Record rain eases Southland problem, but...

By BOB NAGEY

PB Staff Writer More than two inches of recordsetting rain drenched the Southland over the weekend, easing the water shortage somewhat in the valley, but bringing very little help to relieve the drought in Central and Northern

The rain caused several power failures, toppled a dozen trees, and washed out a street here before it moved north.

It was blamed for a crash that injured three persons Sunday on the San Bernardino Freeway.

The storm set several records: The rain, measuring 1.75 inches Sunday, was the heaviest for a May day since the weather bureau began keeping records in the 1880s. It was the heaviest rainstorm for May, with a reading of 2.05 inches in Pomona. And it brought the lowest maximum temperature to the valley for a May 8, a reading of 57 degrees Sunday. The previous low reading was 59.7,

Although there were some isolated showers throughout the day, the National Weather Service predicted fair skies and no more rain for Tues-

Some snow was reported in the mountains above Baldy Village Sunday, but most of it melted today because of warming temperatures.

The weatherman said the storm, most unusual for this time of the year, was caused by an erratic weak front which moved in from the northwest, skirted the Southland and then scattered in all directions. The storm moved to the Bay area Sunday evening, but less than an inch of rain was reported there this morning.

However, it caused a great disruption in Metropolitan Los Angeles.

It created a tornado in the Long Beach area, causing an estimated $150,000 damage. It caused great traffic tangles and toppled scores of trees and power lines which left residents without electricity for hours. And it caused floods at several locations, particularly in the San Fernando area.

In the valley, it crippled traffic lights along Mission Boulevard this morning from East Pomona to Central Avenue and blew down electric wires, disrupting service to residents in the vicinity of Wessely and Grant avenues in Montclair, along Fifth, Sixth and Eighth streets near Laurel in Upland, and at Ramona and Grand avenues in Montclair.

The street was reported washed out at the intersection of Carnelian and La Grande streets in Alta Loma, and there was a flood at Carbon Canyon Road and Pipe Line Avenue in the Chino area.

Three persons were injured when their car slid on the wet pavement of the San Bernardino Freeway and overturned early Sunday morning.

The driver, Robert A. McCandless, 35, of Garden Grove, told the highway patrol he was turning onto the connector road with the Orange Freeway west of Pomona when the car slid into the curb, hit a lamp post and went over on its right side.

He was treated at San Dimas Community Hospital and released. His wife, Ronna, 32, was reported in 'guarded'' condition there this morning. Another passenger, Charlene Rioux, 22, of Anaheim, said she would see her own doctor for treatment.

TORNADO DAMAGE

Parts of trees and other debris are blown against the Crestwood Convalescent Hospital in Long Beach Sunday after a tornado moved through part of the town, cutting an eratic fivemile path from the ocean to North Long Beach. Part of the hospital's roof was damaged.

Judge claims she's no threat to society

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Patricia Hearst stood surrounded by her at-Hearst, who pleaded no contest to assault and robbery charges, was given five years probation today by a judge who said she was no threat to Superior Court Judge E. Talbot Callister acted after the prosecutor joined the defense in asking that Miss Hearst spend no further time in Callister said, "I don't think there is a heart in America that isn't full of compassion for the parents." He called Randolph and Catherine Hearst "good people who love their daughter. Probation does not necessarily mean freedom for Miss Hearst, since she is under a seven-year prison sentence for robbing a San Francisco bank. She was freed six months ago on $1.25 million bail pending appeal of that conviction and the 9th U.S. District Court of Appeals is expected to rule soon in that case. If her appeal is rejected, she could return to serve at least 14 months before being eligible for probation.

The slender, 23-year-old Miss tornevs as the judge pronounced sentence. All four members of her original defense team came to court for the sentencing. Her parents sat in a front row in the packed courtroom.

Callister told Miss Hearst she would have to make restitution to those whose property she damaged when she fired two machine guns in a wild, sporting goods store fracas May 16, 1974. Miss Hearst spoke not a word during the procedings. She wore a brown sweater and brown tweed skirt with boots and was hustled in and out of court under private guard. Deputy Dist. Atty. Sam Mayerson said he felt that there had been too much effort by law enforcement not to show favoritism to this defendant." Thus, he said, she stood the risk of being punished too harshly.

It would be wrong to satisfy those who say there is special treatment for the rich by punishing this defendant inordinately," he said.

He declared: "There has never been another case like this and I sincerely hope there will not be again.

Both Mayerson and Miss Hearst's attorney, F. Lee Bailey, stressed that the newspaper heiress was a kidnap victim when she committed crimes. The judge said that was a mitigating factor in his decision and he had ample evidence that she would commit no further crimes.

He struck from the court record two allegations of use of a firearm which could have intensified any sentence against Miss Hearst. The five years probation applies to both counts to which she pleaded no contest, a plea the judge said was tantamount to guilty.

HOT SMOG BALLOON

The balloon "America", in flight, will be used to measure smog over Los Angeles, Orange, San Bernardino and Riverside counties in three planned flights this year between May and October. The manned balloon - the only one of its kind - is fully pressurized and will move with the airflows to measure pollution. The flights will be sponsored by the South Coast Air Quality Management District in connection with the Aerospace Corp., designers of the craft, Thomas Heinsheimer, SCAQMD board member, will serve as pilot.

It measures pollution

New 'hot smog' balloon tested

A unique method of measuiring the pollution in the air persons breathe in Southern California with a manned superpressure balloon has been approved by the South Coast Air Quality Management District (SCAQMD) for air pollution studies.

The SCAQMD, in a joint effort with The Aerospace Corp. of El Segundo, is planning three balloon flights dur-ing the peak smog season, May through October, to measure pollutants over the South Coast Air Basin.

The district and Aerospace will collaborate on the plans of the flight and on the analysis of the data.

Thamas F. Heinsheimer, director of the Aerospace AT-MOSAT (for Atmospheric Satellite) project, will pilot the 10-meter balloon with Peter Neushul, an Aerospace consultant, as co-pilot.

During four previous air pollution information flights. the Aerospace balloon, called "America," demonstrated its uniqueness in pursuing a parcel of polluted air to obtain precise measurements.

Constructed with a new high-strength material called Kevlar, the balloon - the first of its kind - is now committed to the preliminary three atmospheric monitoring flights for the joint project.

A superpressure balloon contains gas that is at a higher pressure than the outside air pressure. This gives the craft greater stability than conventional balloons.

During the first flight, Heinsheimer and Neushul will measure pollutant concentrations over a heavily congested emission source area near the Los Angeles Orange County coast on a typically moderate-to-heavy smog day in the inland valleys

The progress of smog buildup in a single parcel of air as it moves over the basin will be monitored. The balloon will be instrumented to measure ozone, nitrogen oxides. hydrocarbons, aldehydes, temperature and relative

Information gathered from this first flight should aid the district to acquire a better understanding of the source-receptor relationships involved in photochemical smog (ozone), the dominant air pollution contaminant in Southern California.

It is hoped through this flight we will take a step toward refining and improving out theoretical predictions of atmospheric chemistry and geographic destiny of manmade pollutants," said Al McCandless, district board

The second flight will help the district determine the role the Kaiser Steel Corp. plant and the adjacent Etiwanda power plant play in sulfer dioxide and the sultate air quality in the basin.

The balloon will take off about a half-mile downwind of the industrial complex about midnight during sulfateprone weather conditions.

And the third balloon flight will be launched from a coastline location downwind of major automotive emission sources during the early morning peak traffic period.

This third flight will enable the district to study the life cycle of photochemical smog from the original emissions of primary contaminants in the source area to the eventual formation of ozone in downwind receptor areas, according to McCandless.

Heinsheimer, who is also a Rolling Hills councilman and vice chairman of the SCAQMD, considers the superpressure balloon suited for air pollution studies, offering an unlimited number of uses.

The balloon offers us a unique manner of testing the air, since it can sample the evolution of a mass of air by following along with it and making detailed measurements during the flight, while not perturbing the air surrounding it," Deinsheimer said.

'America'' also has the added advantage of remaining airborne for extended periods of time, perhaps days whereas a helicopter or other fixed winged aircraft would have time limitations as well as interference from ex-

Adding the latest breakthrough of modern technology to the nearly 200-year tradition of scientific application of manned balloons, the new craft has been developed by Aerospace as a forerunner of an ambitious experiment planned for later in the decade - a balloon that would support an unmanned one-ton payload at altitudes of 60,000 feet, said Heinsheimer.

Such flights in the stratosphere would be undertaken to analyze the heat balance between the earth, lower atmosphere and the stratosphere. Also during the flights, pollution and meteorological observations would be

For understanding of labor, business viewpoints

Brown 'appeals' to environmentalists

Edmund Brown Jr. says environmentalists must try harder to understand labor and business viewpoints and recognize the high cost of saving the environment.

The 39-year-old Democrat told directors of the Sierra Club that 'just as you have a constituency that you want to protect and advocate for, you've also got to educate them as to what tradeoffs and what costs are involved in each particular program.'

Brown repeated the "era of limits" theme which has been applauded by environmentalists as a recognition of the need for conservation in his appearance Saturday before the Sierra Club directors.

But Brown said conservationists must recognize that the limits apply to them too.

To clean up the air and clean up the water is going to be expensive. and I think the price is worth paying. But we have to recognize there are costs, and jobs are displaced," Brown said.

'Our expanding technology is running up against certain limits. Physical limits, political limits, technological limits, foreign policy limits, and those apply not only to business and government, they apply to environmental groups," Brown said

"It's not an either-or, it's a matter of tempering both, so that the people recognize a common purpose and a common destiny. ... I'm asking you to include jobs and the economy in all evaluation of these programs," Brown said

I really sense an increasing polarization," he said. "We're trying to make people aware of the costs of conserving our resources, of clean-

An hour before the Nob Hill luncheon with the Sierra Club, Brown visited clean-up day at "The Pink Palace," a 12-story tenement where Brown spent the night last January and heard tenant complaints about crime, garbage and other problems.

In an informal tenants meeting with Mel Spriggs of the San Francisco Housing Authority, owner of the building, Brown asked for a review from both tenants and officials of "what being done to make things more livable.

Freeways hastened by state financing

SACRAMENTO (AP) - The additional $500 million in the 1978-84 state highway construction program could hasten freeways in Northern and Southern California, says The Sacramento Bee.

The increase was announced over the weekend by state Transportation Director Adriana Gianturco. It would boost highway spending during the period from $5.6 billion to $6.1

The department said the projects in line for the additional money won't be decided until shortly before submission to the state Highway Commission in August.

However, The Bee said six projects are being proposed in internal department documents. The Bee, quoting unnamed department sources, listed the following: -Completion of Interstate 15 in San Diego County.

between Divisadero and Bullard streets -Full freeway status for Route 101, the socalled "blood alley" near

-The Fresno Freeway, Route 41,

San Jose. -The Grove-Shafter Freeway in Oakland, advancing the first atage between Route 17 and 23rd Street to

-The Dumbarton Bridge approach connecting the south San Francisco Bay area

-The Century Freeway in Los Angeles County, spending $11 million in 1978-79, $47 million in 1978-80, $53 million in 1980-81, $54 million in 1981-82, and $71 million in 1982-83

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Negotiations could reopen by Tuesday, with federal help, between representatives of 35 West Coast bakeries and

5,500 striking bakers. 'There's a possibility of the parties getting together by Tuesday with the National Mediation and Conciliation Service," Joseph G. Kane, international executive vice president of the Bakery and Confectionary Workers International Union, said Sunday

The walkout began Saturday morning after contract talks broke down. The contract expired April 30.

Kane would give no figures on wages sought, saying that the union wants a "substantial wage increase and the offer is not substantial." He said the union is also concerned with "maintaining health benefits at the present levels since health costs have gone up.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - The normally noisy baseball crowd sat quietly, faces upturned, as 72-yearold Karl Wallenda inched on a swaying tightrope across Candlestick Park.

The wiry patriarch of the tragedyridden Flying Wallendas performed his specialty 130 feet above the ground in a light drizzle on Sunday before 15,000 spectators.

'I don't care if there's a thunderstorm," Wallenda said before setting foot on the sagging, 650-foot tightrope. The walk took place between games of the San Francisco Giants-New York Mets doubleheader. For his walk on the dripping wet five-eighths-inch wire, Wallenda wore an embroidered tie, dark-red pants and burgundy sash and carried an 18-foot aluminum pole for balance. Eight minutes after he started,

Wallenda pulled a baseball from his hip pocket and tossed it onto the pitcher's mound below him. A minute later he stood on his head on Wallenda reached the end of the tightrope 15 minutes after starting. With a graceful leap, he turned to the wildly cheering crowd.

The Senate-House conference committee hoped to reach agreement later today on the compromise budget resolution, which will set spending and revenue targets for the fiscal year beginning Oct. 1.

One key difference between House and Senate spending plans is over defense. The Senate approved spending $111.6 billion, which is $300 million less than Carter asked, but the House cut its defense figure to

Under this compromise plan, worked out by senior committee members and the White House, the President would have the final say over price decisions if the energy secretary and the board disagree.

The House commerce energy and power subcommittee will devote the week to hearings on Carter's energy program. Opening testimony will be on plans to give tax breaks to people who insulate their homes.

The Senate Energy and Natural Resources Committee scheduled a mid-week hearing on the over-all energy program.

A housing bill on which the House began debate last week is slated for a final vote before the House moves on to a foreign aid measure. The housing bill includes authorization of $12.5 billion for community development bloc grants.

On Thursday the House is to take up a compromise version of the tax stimulus bill, on which agreement was reached with Senate conferees last week. The bill includes an average tax cut of $111 for some 46 million taxpayers who use the standard deduction.

The rules changes being brought up in the Senate would leave intact the present requirement for a threefifths majority, or 60 votes, to put the debate-limiting cloture rule into effect. But it would curb the use of dilatory tactics after that.

Hijacker thwarted by blow to head

TOKYO (AP) - A 25-year-old American was charged with attempted hijacking today after trying to force the pilot of a Northwest Airlines jumbo jet with 261 persons aboard to fly him to Moscow

The hijacker, Bruce Trayer, held a razor to the throat of a Japanese stewardess until cabin attendant William Vanheuven hit him on the head with the butt of a fire axe. The hijacking attempt lasted about 10

Trayer told Japanese police he was from Prairie du Chien, Wis., and decided to go to Moscow on the spur of the moment. He said he had heard about the Soviet capital from his father, a police spokesman said.

The hijacking occurred Sunday about an hour after the jetliner took off from Tokyo for Honolulu. The pilot, Capt. Homer Sutter of Minneapolis, radioed a hijacking was under way and requested directions for a flight to Moscow.

About 10 minutes later, the pilot reported the hijacker had been subdued and the plane was returning to Tokyo because the hijacker was in-

Trayer was conscious and shouting, with a bandage on his head, when the Japanese police removed him from the plane. He was treated at a hospital, and the doctors said his injuries should be healed in about two weeks. The police took him away for investigation.

The flight took off again for Honolulu early Monday with all but three of the original passengers and a new crew on board. Capt. Sutter and his crew remained in Tokyo to assist in the police investigation.

Trayer told police he was drafted by the U.S. Army in 1971, discharged in 1973 and worked for a cement company until he quit last December, a police spokesman said.

When the plane landed in Honolulu, one of the passengers who witnessed the incident said Trayer was subdued after the captain told him to take his

Consolidation of municipal courts rapped

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Consolidating the county's 24 Municipal Courts would save $3 million a year, but combining the lower courts with the countywide Superior Court would not be beneficial, according to a report compiled by the Superior Court's executive officer.

The 22-page report was prepared for the County Board of Supervisors by the Superior Court's executive officer, Frank S. Zolin, and Presiding Judge William P. Hogoboom.

The Superior Court, responsible for handling felony criminal cases and civil suits with damages of more than $5,000, has requested that 34 judges be added to the nine-branch

Supervisor Kenneth Hahn, however, said he would not consider additional judges until court administrators determined how the courts could be reformed.

The lower courts handle misdemeanor criminal matters, civil cases with damages less than $500, and traffic offenses.

Two flee from CIM

Two men escaped from the minimum security section of Chino Institution for Men some time before the 10:15 p.m. bed check Sunday, according to prison officials.

The men, James Sims, 32, of Los Angeles County, serving a term for burglary, and Freddie Lathan, 21, from Los Angeles County, serving a term for robbery, were reported missing at the bed check.

An inspection of the institution grounds showed that the men had taken a plumber's truck and driven it to the water filtration plant near the south end of the facility.

They abandoned the truck when it became stuck in the mud and escaped over a wall, prison officials

Both men are black, with black hair and brown eyes. Sims is 6 feet, 3 inches tall and weighs about 195 pounds. Lathan is 6 feet tall and weighs 150 pounds.

CIM officials do not know the type of clothing worn by the men at the time of the escape.

Meanwhile, Camp Prado officials and Department of Corrections investigators continued their search for a 28-year-old inmate who walked away from the Camp Prado forestry camp about 7:40 p.m. Sunday.

He was identified as Larry B. Martinez serving a term for armed robbery. He was described as a Latin, 5 feet 9, 160 pounds, with black hair and brown eyes. He was last seen wearing prison blues.

Man making bank deposit robbed

A Pomona service station manager was robbed of the $2,000 deposit he was preparing to make Sunday morning outside the Bank of America branch at 114 E. Fourth St., police reported.

The victim, Robert Glynn, 43, said he was about to place the deposit inside the night drop at the bank when the robber approached, asked for a light and then threatened him with a 38-caliber revolver.

After seizing the bank deposit bag, the gunman ordered Glynn to walk towards the intersection of Garey Avenue. And when the victim did so, the robber went to a van and was driven away eastbound on Fourth.

The robber was described as black, about 23 years old, 5 feet 9 weighing 175 pounds. He wore an olive-drab army jacket, knit cap and bluejeans.

Bangor railway, bombed last week, was halted after reports a bomb had been found, the army said.

Burly bands of strikers in Belfast's Protestant strongholds stopped those who looked like they were headed for work, but most simply took another route.

A spate of bomb scares disrupted traffic in Belfast, but the downtown area bustled with shoppers and commuters and appeared normal.

The strike was launched a week ago by the Rev. Ian Paisley's United Unionist Action Council in an effort to paralyze the province as a similar Protestant general strike did in 1974.

But government officials said at least two-thirds of the 600,000 workers in the province refused to join the walkout.

One Protestant man was shot to death Sunday, raising the known death toll in 71/2 years of fighting to at least 1.742.

Protestant extremists attacked buses Sunday, but the bus company kept its service operating. One driver was burned about the face when a gasoline bomb was flung aboard his bus. Another driver was shot and seriously wounded as he waited at a bus stop.

Another bus was hijacked and set on fire but the driver was not injured. The strike leaders got a severe setback when technicians at the big Ballylumford power station announced they would stay on the job after a strong force of police moved in to protect them.

The station north of Belfast supplies two-thirds of the province's electricity. The technicians refused last week to join the strike, but threatened to shut down because of death threats and other intimidation by militant strikers.

The Unionist Action Council called the strike to try to force the British government into an all-out offensive against the Roman Catholic guerrillas of the Irish Republican Army. The council also demanded restoration of the Protestant-dominated provincial parliament. which was suspnded in

The government has rejected both demands.

Fargo bartenders, hairdressers and other Soviet-bloc officers watched with approval as 14,000 soldiers of the U.S. 9th Division at Ft. Lewis, Wash., ran a five-mile course,

Some area bartenders and beauticians - daily recipients of woe and worry from troubled customers are being groomed to help patrons find ways to deal with life's challenges

Workshops for barkeeps and beauticians are being held because they "are in unique professions to promote mental health and prevent mental illness," says Lois Quam. publicity director for the Cass County Mental Health Association, a workshop cosponsor.

"Patrons have found that bartenders are willing listeners who don't make damning judgments when they hear of a person's problems," she says

Seventy beauty college students recently completed a workshop, called "Shampoo, Set and Sympathy," to help guide women who don't know where to turn with their troubles.

'What we're trying to do is train them to be good listeners, and to recognize people in trouble and inform them as to where mental health resources are available' in such problem areas as family, job and alcoholism, says Mrs Quam. "This is for anybody with problems

Workshops consist in part of role playing so that participants might learn how to react to a client who, for example, suddenly cries because of a heavy burden, she says.

Dr. Will Wells, director of the alcohol program at the Southeast Mental Health and Retardation Center, a cosponsor of the workshops, says drinkers with problems often unload on the bartender, giving the barkeep an opening to respond with helpful suggestions about professional help.

Sooner or later, most everyone wants to talk to the bartender, and familiarity with him breeds some degree of comfort, sayd Dr. Well. "With comfort comes open-

But whether a troubled drinker will respond to the bartender's advice isn't known, Wells says. "We encourage bartenders to call us and tell if he's making a referral.

Bar owner Kenneth Habinger, 44, Casselton, is one of the workshop speakers.

'I'm sure almost every bartender on occasion has had a chance to help somebody out when they have a tough situation to face," says Habinger. "The main thing to remember is that a bartender is not a psychiatrist. He should just try to refer customers to the proper people who will help them.

CORE chapter opens in city

PB Staff Writer

A local chapter of the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE), which will serve the San Gabriel and Pomona Valley areas, has been opened in Pomona.

In operation now for about six weeks, the organization will provide a variety of social and community services at no charge, including employment referrals, consumer services and counseling.

The CORE office, located at 147 Pomona Mall East, is manned by three full-time staff members, Titus Ardister, Edna Scott and Gwendolyn Brooks. Ardister estimated that 400 to 500 persons have already become members of the CORE chapter. We want to be a friend of the community, to address the social and economic needs of the entire community."

Immediate goals of the organization are creation of a day care center, establishing a "rap" center where youths troubled at home can come and talk about their problems, and attracting more volunteer help for the 'We survive on volunteer services," he said. Ardister said volunteers are needed to answer the center's phone, conduct interviews and provide other services to valley

One of the central goals, both now in the future said Ardister, is helping find and get jobs for people.

CORE is on the mailing list for local industries and posts job openings available in the local area

"A lot of people say there aren't jobs in Pomona. But I get around town and I see the signs. Jobs are there," he

Ardister said CORE will be working with other local employment service agencies such as Re-Employment Action Committee (REAC) or the South Hills Neighborhood Service Center in providing employment information and services

We want to work with other service agencies as much as possible. Our job is to find out who can help a person. If we can't, we want to send them to someone that can,' said Ardister.

Ardister said he believes CORE can provide new, meaningful help to the community based on CORE's national reputation and its independency

'We aren't federally funded. We don't have to worry about numbers of persons served to justify a grant," he

The theme of the office, he said, is "your problem is our

Services of the center are free, although donations and paying memberships are sought.

For information about CORE services or programs, persons may call 623-0723. Office hours for the center will be 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday

Three bills, designed to "upgrade" the quality of teaching, have been approved by the Senate Education Committee and now goes to the Senate floor. The three, Senate Bills 272, 273 and 274 by Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, give school districts greater discretion in hiring teachers in the wake of declining enrollments and shrinking education funds. SB 272 designates a teacher's first year of employment as an "intern" year during which the teacher would receive supervision and counseling as a step in the hiring

This process is now mandated for community colleges. By May 15 each spring, the school districts, under SB 272, would decide whether to continue an intern teacher's contract. Decisions not to continue the contract would not be subject to judicial or administrative review, and there would not be a notice of dismissal on the teacher's permanent employment record.

probationary status and could be dismissed only for cause, with protections of hearings and reviews now afforded by the state statutes.

'Such a process would enable school administrators, teachers and parents to actually work with the intern, and what better review process could there be for hiring permanent staff," asked Behr

School districts could be more "experimental" in considering how someone with a special attribute, such as a teacher in a wheelchair, might fit into a particular school

SB 273 would enable school districts to consider all available teachers for all open positions. Presently, a district must permanently employ any substitute teacher who has worked on a temporary or long-term substitute basis for at least 75 per cent of the previous year.

This practice requires the district to by-pass normal mative action.

Behr said that substitutes frequently are hired during a time of emergency in the course of the school year, when the district cannot conduct a thorough search for the most qualified person to balance the total staff.

To avoid a commitment to a temporary or long-term substitute employe, districts often switch teachers around just before the critical employment time is completed.

'This does not help either the pupil or the teacher.' SB 274 removes the lottery system used to achieve staff

Now staff reductions are permitted by law when enrollment declines and reductions must be made on a lasthired, first-fired basis.

Employes hired the same day - and within a given school year nearly all employes have the same hire-on

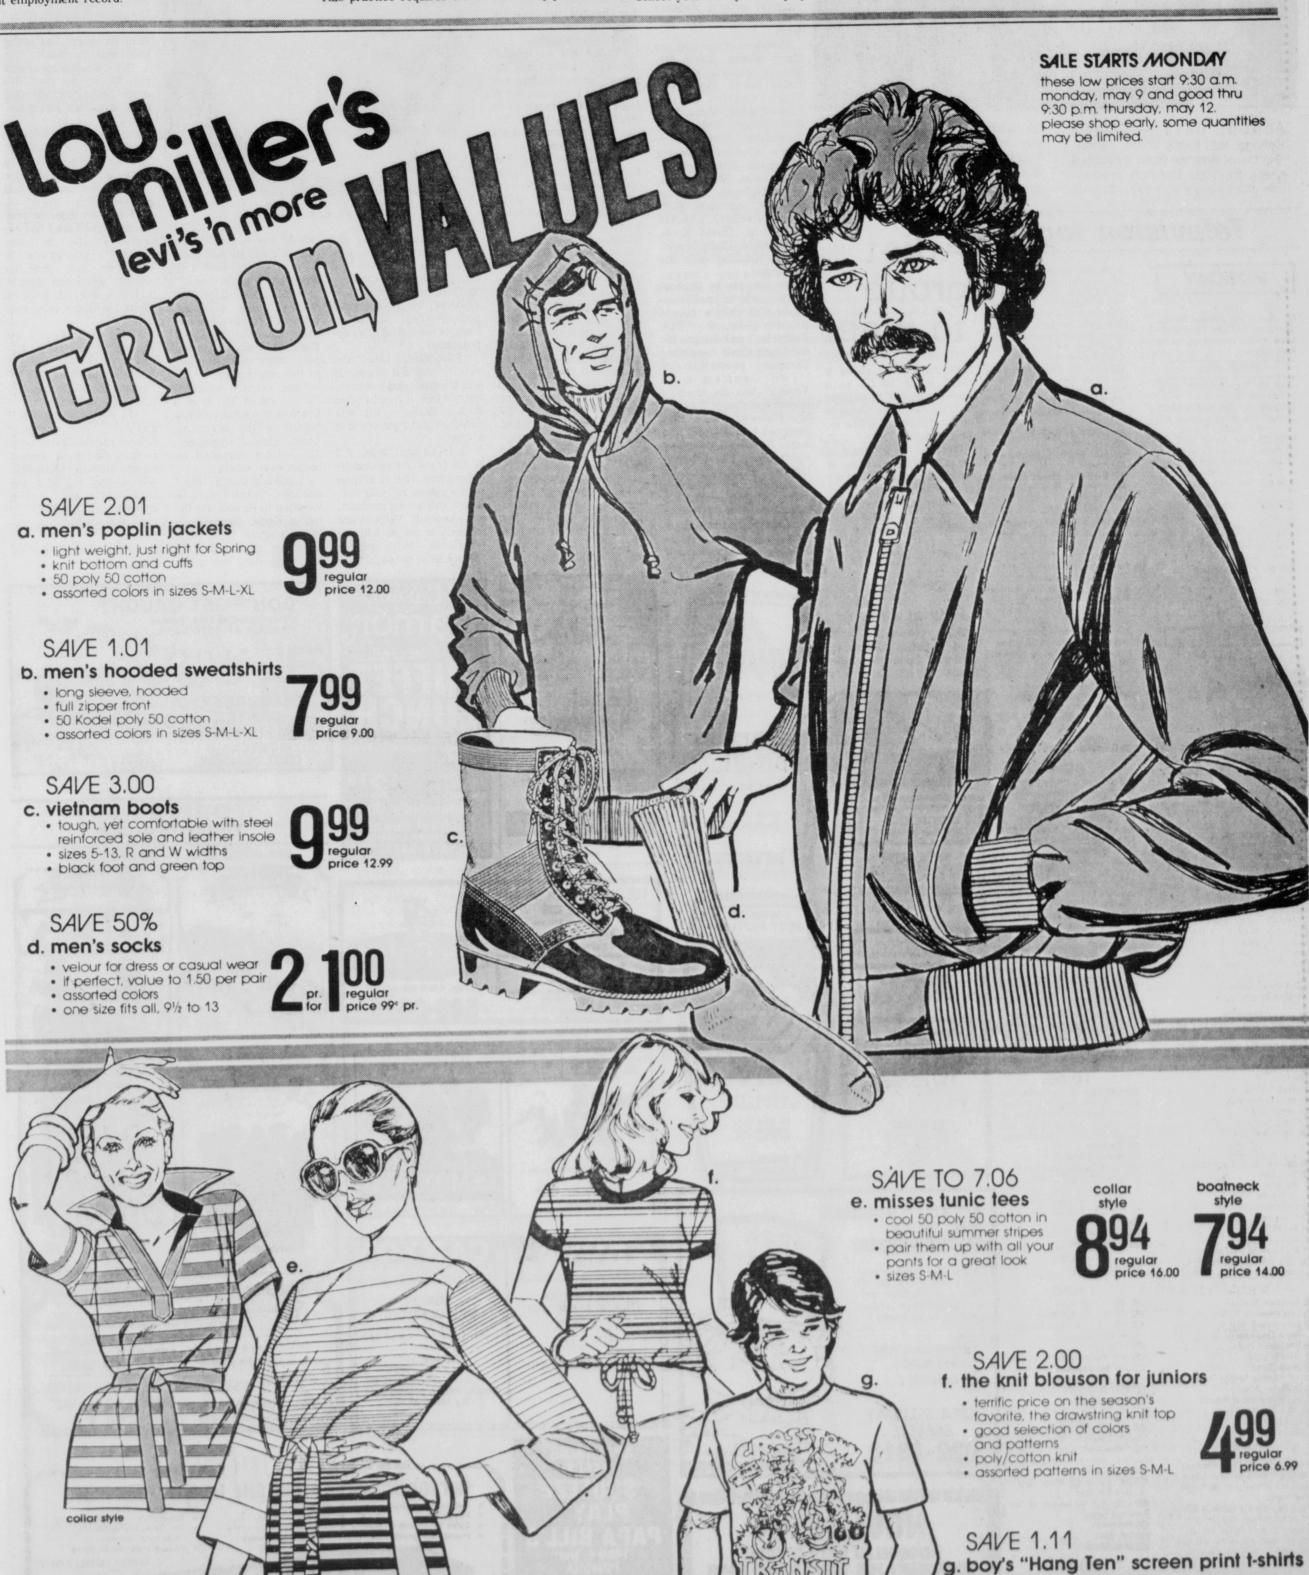

First-year teachers rehired would assume second-year hiring selection procedures, including programs of affir- date — now draw lots to determine the order of their dismissal.

Behr said that this procedure is "blind to the needs of the educational program and the racial and ethnic composition of the school staff. Young minority teachers frequently are the first to be released," he added.

State Schools Supt. Wilson Riles asked for modification of the seniority system in 1975 so particularly skilled teachers could be retained, to maintain the affirmative action plans and to continue programs which otherwise would be abandoned.

By ending the lottery system in the determination of seniority, SB 274 would allow districts to adopt the reforms in seniority Riles advocated.

This policy is similar to civil service regulations which give supervisors the right to decide which employes should be retained in mandated cutbacks when several have the same hire-on date.

Glad she's finally out of it aerial on the hut. He saw me and grinned and said. Herro. Rucy. I Rove Rucy.' I knew then that TV would soon be everywhere. And it was."

For many years, Lucille Ball was the undisputed queen of television. Now her re-runs are still popular, but there is no I Love Lucy any more. In a way, she misses it, but in a way she doesn't.

"It was absolutely traumatic," she says, "to lose my audience and my routine. And I badly miss the people I worked with. I had people with me more than 20 years, and losing them was traumatic.

"We trained a lot of people. We set the pace. We made some inroads that have stood up all these years.

But, she says there is another side to the story. She says she actually stayed on the air for a few years longer than she had planned to.

"I was on three or four vears longer than I had expected to stay on," she says. "I stayed on to launch my kids (Desi Arnaz Jr. and Lucie Arnaz) and that worked. Both of them are doing very well

At the time I Love Lucy started, it was fresh, different, innovative. But she realizes that, in today's TV climate, it is viewed as oldfashioned and stale.

'If I were starting now,' she says, "and somebody offered me the I Love Lucy format, I'd turn it down. I know it wouldn't sell today. Who'd buy it? It's too tame. It's not strong enough for anybody to care. It's not biting or permissive. "Thank God it started

Joyce Brothers Marriage and divorce

DEAR DR. JOYCE even want to think of RROTHERS: I can't stop hating my parents for what they did to me during their divorce. Each tried to use me against the other and my life was pure hell. As a result of my disgust over their wrangling I was a homosexual for three vears. Now, at 17, I'm in love with a girl, but I don't marriage. When I told her this, she misunderstood and left me. I feel that my experiences have made it impossible for me to relate to any one person in my life. Yet I'd like to explain to this girl. - T.Y.

DEAR T.Y.: You owe it to yourself, as well as the girl, to discuss your fears regarding failure in personal relationships. Your emotions are not uncommon in young people who have suffered the bitterness of parental divorce.

There's no point, however, in blaming your parents for the rest of your life. Try to understand their feelings. Remember they too experienced parental failings with possibly even more traumatic results. Had they understood their own childhood problems, they might have spared you similar mistakes.

Dr. Frank Caprio and other psychiatrists feel we've gone too far in the earlier accepted theory of placing any and all blame for our personality defects at the door of our parents. Perhaps yours made many mistakes and were unknowingly cruel. I say "unknowingly" because I'm sure they were much too concerned with their own problems to want to deliberately hurt you. In effect, you were injured because of their carelessness, insensitivity and lack of understanding.

At 17, you have a chance to break from those patterns that so disturbed your life and theirs.

DEAR DR. JOYCE BROTHERS: Before we got married, my husband and I could hardly keep our hands off each other. Now ner, 6:30 p.m., meeting, 8 I'm lucky if he gets romantic once a week. Since this is the second marriage for Ameron Steel in Etiwanda. both of us-we are 40 and 38 - we want it to work. I ARCANA DEI Singles don't understand his at-Club, ages 21-35, Our Lady titude, and when I ask him of the Assumption Catholic Church in Claremont, what's wrong he answers, 'Nothing." It's very confusing, particularly since my first husband was just the opposite - in fact, he was too much for me. -M.K.

DEAR M.K.: You may not be aware of it, but it appears that you have made the marital bed a proving ground. Quality not quantity is what counts. Though you complain that your first husband was "to much for me," you obviously are unaware that most males regard it as physically impossible to be "oversex-

Just because your husband is not as demanding sexually as your former spouse does not mean he is losing interest in you. Possibly in some unthinking comments you have drawn comparisons between him and your first husband and thus set up psychological blocks that make your present husband feel he has to live up to some imaginary ideal of sexual perfor-

Anxiety and fear over inadequacy may be interfering with his romantic interest. Fear of being a failure, of being thought sexually inferior or of being ridiculed can inhibit the open expression of sexual desire.

Each individual also has a different intensity of sex drive. Comparison with another is unfair. And then, too, you are both older and your memories of your first husband's requirements must be tempered by acknowledgement of the decline in sexual desire that comes with

Sawyer isn't ordered to get his books in order, a precedent will be set that will lead to trouble when the PUC deals with larger utilities. J. Hollis Wyman, a food processor and state senator from Milbridge, was at one time the treasurer of the water company. He said Sawyer left a highpaying engineering job in Connecticut to return to Milbridge and run the family's water company.

"What he's (Sawyer's) interested in he'll work like hell for, like digging ditches and laying pipes for the water company. But things he isn't interested in, he just does nothing

Market activity

NEW YORK (UPI) - The stock market was slightly lower early Monday in slow trading of New York Stock Exchange issues. Despite optimistic economic forecasts, the market could not generate solid buying because of interest-rate fears.

The National Association of Purchasing Management reported a 75 per cent favorable outlook for the economy over the next 12 months among its members, the most optimistic appraisal in four years.

Yet, the investors failed to repond to that outlook or the government' report last week that unemployment dropped to 7 per cent from 7.3 per cent, the lowest level in 29

Wall Street was disturbed that a surge in the nation's basic money supply would cause the Federal Reserve Board, which acted last week, to tighten credit further. That could cause interes rates to rise.

As a result, the Dow Jones industrial average, which lost 6.70 points Friday, was off 3.48 points to 933.26 shortly before noon EDT. It gained more than 9 points last week. Breadth figures reflected considerable investor uncertainty. Of the 1,600 issues crossing the tape, 550 declined, 515 advanced and 535 remained unchanged. Volume at the three-hour market amounted to about 6,600,000 shares, down from the 8,310,000 traded during the same period Friday.

International Mining was ahead 1% after a delayed opening. Pacific Holding raised to $25 from $20 a share its offer for International Mining stock. Pacific Holding, which reported higher earnings, was ahead 1/2 on the American Stock Exchange.

S.S. Kresge was the most active NYSE issue, off 1/4. General Telephone & Electronics followed, unchanged. Dow Chemical was third, off %.

Atlas Corp. was ahead 2%. The firm's uranium investments are paying off, according to Barron's, the financial weekly magazine. United Nuclear, another uranium milling firm, was ahead 1%.

Belco Petroluem was ahead %. The firm struck oil offshore of Peru that is expecte to produce more than 1,000 barrels a day.

U.S. Steel was off %. The nation's largest steelmaker announced it was raising prices 6 per cent on sheet, strip, bar, rod and plate products. That was below the 7 to 9 per cent increases announced Friday by Republic and Lykes. Eastman Kodak was ahead %. The company announced it would offer rebates on certain instant cameras and Prices were mixed in moderate trading of Amex issues. Houston Oil & Minerals, the most active issue, was ahead 1/2 before trading was halted. The company announced it made a significant gas discovery offshore Louisiana.

TO DEVELOP A "TOTAL SYSTEM" THAT DELIVERS REALTASTE IN A LOW 'TAR' CIGARETTE.

A low 'tar' cigarette is a complex system of interacting parts.

The tobacco. The filter. And even the paper.

Decade is the first low 'tar' in which all the parts have been arranged in perfect balance with each other. This is the Decade "Total System." And this is why Decade is the first low 'tar' with a taste worth smoking.

The Tobacco. "Flavor Packing" plus fifteen tobaccos boost taste.

We've developed a system called "Flavor Packing" that allows us to concentrate a special patented tobacco flavorant in each Decade cigarette.

This is in addition to our special taste blend of fifteen fine tobaccos, including exotic Turkish, full bodied Burley, and Bright, a tobacco known for its smoothness.

The Filter. Unique "Taste Channel" gives first puff impact.

The Decade filter is a combination of modern laser technology, plus our own exclusive research design. Simply, we've created a channel within the filter to give you that first puff impact you've come to expect from only the higher 'tar' cigarettes. Which means you get taste from first puff to last.

The Paper. High porosity paper controls burn rate.

For Decade we use only high porosity cigarette paper. Ordinary paper inhibits the burn rate, which can diminish the taste and create the need to pull harder when you drag.

With Decade's high porosity paper however, you get an efficient burn rate that delivers optimum taste with a minimum of 'tar.'

The result. A completely new kind of low 'tar' cigarette.

So try a pack of Decade for yourself. Regular or Menthol. And after one taste we think you'll agree that our last 10 years were well worth the effort.

Regular and Menthol.

'Taxable sales' indicate an upswing in valley economy

By ED PRATHER PB Staff Writer

The valley's economy, as measured by taxable sales, continued its upswing during the final quarter of 1976, nearly breaking through the billion-dollar mark for

Although the growth rate slowed in comparison to the regional average, valley cities nevertheless posted taxable sales gains of 12.8 per cent during the quarter on sales of $272,899,000

The quarterly figures, released today by the California Board of Equalization, left the valley just $7 million short of $1 billion for the Regionally, Southern California posted a gain of 13.6 per cent, which trailed the other parts of the state. Mountain counties and the San Francisco Bay area both were up 16 per cent. The San Joaquin Valley increased by 14.8 per cent.

Taxable sales statewide during the quarter exceeded $23.3 billion, or 14.8 per cent greater than the same period in 1975

Discounting the statewide inflation rate during the quarter, actual growth in the state was 9.2 per cent, which made it the best quarter since recovery from the 1974 recession began two years ago.

Personal income, according to the state figures, was up an average of 11.1 per cent over the period a year earlier, apparently prompting the near-record Christmas retail sales occurring in December.

The number of persons employed in the state was 215,000 higher than the same period in 1975, with the unemployment rate dipping from 10.1 to 8.9 per cent

At the same time it announced the fourth quarter taxable sales, the Board of Equalization also released some impressive figures concerning the recovery of the automobile dealers from the 1974 recession.

Those figures show that Californians bought $6.5 billion worth of new vehicles in 1975 and increased that amount to $7.9 billion in 1976 when 1,147,169 new vehicles were registered in the state.

The 1975 figure was 11.2 per cent greater than the recession year of 1974, and the 1976 figure is a whopping 21.6 per cent greater than 1975.

Summer jobs for youths offered

By BOB NAGEY PB Staff Writer

Part-time summer jobs will be offered to nearly 2,000 disadvantaged youths in the valley in an all-out effort by the federal government to keep them off the streets.

More than $1.6 million has been allotted to the Summer Youth Employment Program here, administered under the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA).

The deadline to apply is May 30. Jobs start June 20.

Youths who are economically poor enough to qualify will be paid $2.50 an hour, for a maximum of 20 hours a week and 200 hours for the summer.

Communities involved include Pomona, Claremont, La Verne, San Dimas, Ontario, Upland, Montclair, Chino, Alta Loma, Cucamonga, Guasti, Etiwanda and Rialto.

The youths will be given jobs as clerk-typists, recreational aides, maintenance aides, library aides, summer school assistants and helpers in municipal jobs.

Application forms may be obtained at city halls in La Verne, San Dimas, Pomona, Claremont, Ontario, Upland, Montclair and Chino, and the high schools that serve these communities.

Martin Lomeli, in charge of the La Verne-San Dimas program, said eligibility includes all youths, male or female, between 14 and 21 years of age, who are "economically disadvantaged" under the definition of Department of Labor guidelines. Applicants must have Social Security numbers and work permits.

Persons needing more information may phone Lomeli at the La Verne City Hall, Shirley Smith at the Pomona City Hall, and the West End Multi-Service Center in Ontario which has charge of communities in San Bernardino County.

Lottery study shows most persons would quit working

By VONNE ROBERTSON PB Staff Writer

Most people would quit their jobs today if they didn't have to work for economic reasons, according to a Pitzer College professor who has spent 41/2 years studying lottery win-

H. Roy Kaplan, a sociologist and visiting professor at the Claremont college, based much of the information to appear in a book to be published in the near future on 34 of New Jersey's million-dollar lottery

Kalan said the report shows that, generally, people do not work if it isn't an economic necessity, but that they still look for something meaningful to do with their time.

'The reports also show that a lot of jobs we have today are deadend jobs." added the professor who is now on leave from State University of New York in Buffalo.

'The lottery people were a natural group to focus on," said Kaplan. They were typical middle-American families with records of good working habits in the past."

Kaplan and Carlos Kruytbosch, now with the National Science Foundation in Washington, D.C., interviewed 34 families with 49 employed members.

'All but 14 quit their jobs," Kaplan

"On the average, the men were making over $12,000 in their jobs and the women, around $8,000. Even though most of the workers said they were satisfied with their employment, most lost no time in quitting.

Twenty-four stopped work immediately. More women than men quit, possibly because they made less money." added the professor.

Prior to winning the lotteries, jobs held ranged from waitress and assembly-line workers to salesmen and proprietors.

One person went to college to become an accountant, Kaplan said.

Another man quit his job as a truck driver to invest in a construction business. One year later, the business went sour and his partner skipped town, leaving the man with very little left. Then the Internal Revenue Service "got their share," leaving him penniless.

Another man who had been a teacher of Hawaiian guitar music bought land in Hawaii as a investment and stopped teaching.

Dog licenses required yearly in S.B. county

Dog owners residing within the county of San Bernardino are required by law to have their pets licensed each year and vaccinated every other year, says Curtis Martin, chief animal control officer of the county health department.

In the West End area, several low cost dog licensing and rabies vaccination clinics are scheduled during the next few weeks. Private practicing veterinarians and the County Health Department are sponsoring these clinics.

According to Martin, the regular license fee is $10 and dogs which are spayed or neutered may be licensed at only $5, provided a spay or neuter certificate is brought along. Rabies inoculations will be offered at the reduced clinic rate of $2.

Dog owners who have a valid vaccination certificate for their pet, one that expires in 1987 or later, can mail it in for their license or pick up a new license at one of the County license purchasing offices.

Martin urged County residents who

Women in politics

More women than ever before sought elective office in 1976. They were, on the whole, better qualified, better organized and better financed than at any time in history

But in politics, it isn't how you play the game that counts, it's whether you win or lose. And by that standard, women still have a long way to go.

Statistics may be dreary but they illustrate more vividly than words the discouraging underrepresentation of the majority sex in public office, especially at the national level.

Of 112 women who set out to run for Congress last year, only 18 actually made it to the House of Representatives - one fewer than in 1974. All but two of the 1976 winners were already incumbents and the newcomers, Reps. Barbara Mikulski, D-Md., and Rose Mary Oakar, D-Ohio, had only token general election opposition as they captured open seats voluntarily vacated by men.

Of four women seeking U.S. Senate seats last year, only one - Democrat Gloria Schaffer of Connecticut - made it as far as the general election, where she was defeated by incumbent GOP Sen. Lowell P. Weicker Jr. There hasn't been a woman in the Senate since Margaret Chase Smith of Maine was defeated in 1972.

The picture at the state level is only slightly brighter. Two states, Connecticut and Washington, now have women governors. A dozen states have women occupying the large ceremonial office of secretary of state.

No woman, however, has even been elected attorney general, the statewide political office which most often serves as a springboard for bigger and

And although women made significant gains in state legislative elections last year, increasing their numbers from 615 to 688, they still constitute only 9.1 per cent of all state legislators.

In short, it's a pretty sorry record. But what accounts for the obvious difficulty women experience in winning elective office?

The Washington political consulting firm of Rothstein-Buckley hopes to find out in a massive survey it is undertaking aimed at analyzing how women ran for statewide and federal office in 1976.

There's lots of conventional wisdom about the problems of women in politics, but our current assumptions could be all wrong," said the firm's Jill Buckley. "If our firm or any other political consultant is to have credibility with women candidates, we must proceed in the same way we will expect - making decisions based on scientific data.

"Conventional wisdom" seems to hold that women invariably have difficulty raising adequate campaign funds, that they are amateurs at organizing campaigns, that they rely too heavily on volunteers and family members for staff assistance, that they are given short shrift by interest groups and party organizations.

Yet some women DO get elected. What are they doing right? Do successful candidates have a common secret that could be shared with other women aspiring to public office?

Why does the press — and consequently the public always seem more interested in what a candidate's husband thinks of her political ambition than in what the candidate herself thinks about is-

Did winning women take feminist positions on questions like abortion, the equal rights amendment and similar issues? Did they seek to draw attention to their gender or treat it as irrelevant?

If the Rothstein-Buckley study can help resolve these and other questions about women in politics it will be a significant public service. There's a lot of talent going to waste right now which the nation can ill afford to lose.

Old warmth gone from this home

Thirty years ago the residents of the Enewetak atoll - then known as Eniwetok - in the western Pacific were summarily moved away so that the area could be used for the first post-World War II atom explosion tests.

Now, they're back. But there's a bit of a hang-up. The older folk, who remember the place from before, say it isn't the way it used to be. And the youngsters find that it's right dull after living on larger islands.

Sort of makes the whole world kin, doesn't it?

week as a leader of bureaucrats, Atty. Gen. Griffin Bell discovered he was being swallowed up by the noxious environment he had sworn to master. It had been the practice of his predecessors to jot down the name of everyone who called them on the phone, along with a note as to the subject matter. These informal scribblings quickly became enshrined as the Atty. Gen.'s telephone log," and Bell was urged to continue the tradition. Heedlessly, he pledged to do so. After three weeks of faithfully scribbling down notes on his incessant phone calls, while departmental business lagged, he came up for air to lament: "I am about to be consumed by my logging operation

He would not be the first high appointee who discovered during the hopeymoon that he was in bed with an octopus, smothered in its loving embrace, the undulating arms simultaneously caressing him and keeping him occupied. With too many arms to outmaneuver, the incoming administrative head usually becomes the pampered captive of the octopus he is supposed to control.

Jimmy Carter invaded Washington with a fragmentary force of no more than 1,200 men and women, most of whom needed instructions to find the bathroom. Yet they were thrust into command of a world-wide civilian force of 2,832,000 bureaucrats and a military force of 2,100,000 volunteers. Most of the Carter appointees are already in the process of being detoothed and bound by the bureaucracy

Taken together, the federal bureaucracy is at once the hope, the burden and, perhaps when all is done, the Nemesis of a free society. Of these assessments, probably only one is controversial. Hope? Yes, profound though the hazards posed by the bureaucracy may be, it is wrong to dismiss it, as critics often do, as though it were a needless excrecence that has mysteriously congealed upon the body politic.

In fact, the bureaucracy is indispensible. Our society can do without Congress for a decade and would be better off for the absence. It can get on without a president for years on end, as past duds in the White House have demonstrated. But without the bureaucracy, our commonwealth in its present state would begin to fall apart in five minutes.

The public bureaucracy is the glue that holds our society together. It is the bureaucracy which strikes down the absconding husband and refloats the scuttled wife; which cares for the child abandoned by its parents and the parents neglected by their children; which sustains the worker dismissed by his employer and the employer undersold by the remorseless Japanese; which combats the veneral diseases and treats the hallucinations spawned by the new morality; which defends the landscape against the bulldozer and makes good the obligations of defrauding banks.

Inside Washington

WASHINGTON - In his third Lilliputians of the permanent plication and deciding that it runs afoul of regulations and must be disallowed has, in his pettifogging way, made possible what we grandly hail as a "government of laws and not of men." Indeed, the emergence of Western Civilization out of the benighted feudalism of the Dark Ages would have been inconceivable without the bureaucracy. Before man could progress from the primitive shackles of decisions made by the Lord of the Manor, there had to be a body of magistrates and clerks, detached, methodical, guided by uniform regulations which were followed to the letter.

The bureaucrat has delivered us not only from the feudal rigidity of the barons and the simplistic ferocities of kings writ runs, he stands between us and the hare-brained schemes and embezzling propensities of the politician. Viewed in the totality of its services and over the sweep of the centuries, the bureaucracy looms as a majestic benefactor of humankind.

Then why, viewed up close in its particulars, is it so uninspiring, wasteful and counterproductive? The bureaucracy is composed of individuals of normal ability and of reasonable disposition who react in various defensive ways to the limited, routine-bound roles decreed for them - some by falling asleep, some by becoming the world's most methodical readers of newspapers, others by making empires out of molehills, still others by finding their "raison d'etre" in the regulation

oo much talent

WASHINGTON - (NEA) - A recent two-day conference here, devoted exclusively to thoughtful discussion about what all of us will be doing with our lives in the coming decades, seemed strangely out of place in this city.

Washington is rightfully notorious for its fixation with overnight crises, crash programs and short-term solutions. Too many of the nation's supposed leaders seldom look beyond yesterday's problems or tomorrow's headlines

But this meeting was different. Its theme was "Life Cycle Planning: New Strategies for Education, Work and Retirement in America." Its sponsors were the Center for Policy Process, a nonprofit research organization, and the publishing house of Holt, Rinehart and Winston.

In analyzing contemporary patterns of education and work, conference leaders produced an impressive array of facts and statistics to back up their claim that we already are a nation with "a glut of overeducated, under-utilized people.

Perhaps most striking was a simple chart which vividly demonstrated that America, for the first time in history, is producing more college graduates than it has jobs to offer people with such training.

had a shortage of college-trained talent. As recently as 1970, 13.2 per cent of the nation's work force was composed of college graduates but 14.2 per cent of the jobs to be filled were in the professional and technical category

But in the ensuing seven years the gradual increase in the number of jobs for which college training is appropriate has failed to match the soaring growth in the number of graduates.

The Labor Department is predicting a "surplus" of 1.6 million college graduates by 1985 and an analysis prepared for the Department of Health, Education and Welfare projects an oversupply at that time of 6 to 8 million, according to one presentation at the con-

That grim forecast was offered by Fred Best and Barry Stern, two young men who painted a gloomy picture of brutal competition for the country's preferred jobs during the coming years. Among the elements they cited:

"People today have higher occupational aspirations than ever because of greater affluence, higher levels of educational attainment and declining family obligations.

Parents want their children to be better off than they were. And the children, who have been nurtured by considerable amounts of schooling and more financial resources,

'Young, better-educated members of minority groups are seeking the job opportunities denied their

'More women are re-entering the labor force to become full-time career workers." In 1940, 9 per cent of all mothers were members of the country's work force. By 1970, that figure had soared to 42 per cent.

We already have entered an era in which there simply are not enough preferred jobs to meet those demands. The initial round of dissatisfaction is demonstrated in a pair of Labor Department surveys which show that a quarter to a third of all workers feel "overqualified" for their jobs.

Some progress has been made in eliminating employment discrimination against women and members of minority groups, but "not so for youth and older people, whose position in the job market has deteriorated steadily during the last several decades," reported Best and

The poor or dead-end jobs in our society are being assumed principally and increasingly by women, youth and minorities," they added. "Indeed, these groups are competing with each other for the same jobs.

Young people remain in college for even longer periods of time, to avoid or overcome competition with older workers and each other - and acquire even more unnecessary education. Without a solution to the problem, the nation faces a potential problem of serious political discon-

Doc Peirsol Just in jest

The President asked for it and already he is receiving an average of 87,000 letters a day telling him how to run the country. But don't be deceived! There was a method in such madness. That request for letters was also a calculated effort to help balance the budget. What a windfall all that mail is for our ailing Postal Service. Eighty-seven thousand letters a day adds up to $11,310 in postage revenue every 24 hours. — However, even with all that extra money the Service can't seem to keep out of the red. So it is now assessing the American Medical Association $1 million for unpaid back postage and is also cutting out Saturday mail deliveries. Which just goes to prove that where there's a will there's a way when a new administration starts setting the country to rights.

Quakes pose no peril to dam

By EARL G. WATERS

Terming the issue of earthquake safety in connection with Auburn Dam "a phony," Assemblyman Eugene Chappie accused those of raising the question of being "insincere or deliberately uninformed.'

Chappie, in support of the building of the multimillion dollar project which would impound 1.3 million acre feet of water, making it one of the state's major dams, asserted assumption of a calculated earthquake risk in dam construction in California was inescapable.

"I have it on the authority of engineers of the Bureau of Reclamation that all of the dams in this state are on or near earth faults," he said. 'Specifically, that includes Shasta, Trinity, Pardee, Oroville, New Bullars Bar, New Melones, and Friant.

"One needs only look at a seismological map to see why that is so. Earth faults honeycomb this state like the arteries and veins in a human body.

'If those who seek to block Auburn Dam had been active 40 years ago we wouldn't have any reservoirs today. We wouldn't have been able to sustain our people let alone experience the agricultural and industrial development which has occurred."

Chappie maintained the faults present no real problem. "The important thing is to know the earth conditions and design construction accordingly to compensate for earth weaknesses. There are calculated risks in any venture."

Illustrating that, he commented that "people take calculated risks every time they fly in a plane or even cross the street.

He recalled that similar arguments about the perils of earthquakes were raised in connection with the building of the Golden Gate Bridge. "It is sitting right on top of the San Andreas fault," he

"The fact is that although we have a couple of hundred dams of notable size in the state, many of them standing for more than half a century, there has not been a single failure caused by an earthquake," Chappie noted.

Referring to the only two dam failures of significance, that of the St. Francis Dam about 50 years ago and the more recent Baldwin Hills Dam, both in Southern California, Chappie said "Neither of those were in any way the result of earthquakes. And faulty construction not earthquakes caused the Teton Dam collapse in Idaho.'

On the subject of ecology, Chappie observed dams are essential to preserve stream life in times of drought. We are having a good illustration of that this year with the predictions that many of the state's streams will run dry this summer because the dam isn't there.

Pointing out that $232 million has already been spent on the project he said, "It would be the height of folly to now abandon it because of faults which were known before the site was selected and were taken into consideration in the design. The Auburn Dam site is the most investigated site in the history of dams in the entire world. There were more than 11 miles of drill cores and 8,000 feet of tunneling to determine the foundations.

He said although President Carter had initially withheld approval of Auburn it has now been okayed and funds for the project are advancing through Congress. "It looks like the show is on the road once again but I thought it appropriate at this time to reassure the people that there is no more risk in Auburn Dam than in any of those already in existence and probably much less."

Dr. Miller No guarantee he'll be wiser

DEAR DR. MILLER: We're getting out ahead of the crowds for our first camping trip soon. And of course Bongo, our terrier, will be coming along. Last year when we did this he ran smack into a porcupine, and we had to pack him off to the doc to get 38 quills yanked. My question: Did that teach him a lesson? Can we count on him being more careful this year? - D.A.

DEAR D.A.: Unfortunately, you can't count on that at all. Should Bongo smell or see another porcupine, you can bet he'll remember his last encounter. The point is whether he'll be appropriately prudent, or bent on revenge. Whether battered Bongo became wiser or just madder can't really be determined ahead of time.

DEAR DR. MILLER: Why is it that some birds' eggs seem to fit in perfectly with their surroundings and are perfectly camouflaged, but other birds' eggs stand out like sore thumbs and would be an easy target for predators? I guess what I'm saying is, why are some wild birds eggs so conspicuous? - T.O.

DEAR T.O.: Protective coloration for some bird eggs is comparatively unimportant, particularly if the nest is so constructed as to effectively conceal the eggs anyway. Then, too, many conspicuous eggs belong to parents, one of whom is invariably on the nest, unless rousted by invaders who would then be so close that finding the eggs would be no problem regardless of their color. White eggs can actually be an advantage in a dark, deep nest where they may be dimly visible to parents, thus less likely to be broken or left uncovered by the incubating bird.

DEAR DR. MILLER: Brunhilda, my hamster, goes for world. Clenched fist indicates tenthe new big biscuit hamster food. It's easy to use, and I sion, antagonism. Arms clasped like the no-waste idea. Is it good enough to be a complete thet for her, or should I still be feeding other foods too? -

DEAR T.T.: While there may be some waste with a biscuit-type food, it should be less. Certainly this food is easier to use, and it certainly can be a complete diet. You can assume it's adequate as an only food if a reputable manufacturer indicates it's compounded as a complete ration, and provided the product has been properly cared for and is fresh when Brunhilda bites into it.

Letter draws angry responses

Dear Readers: Recently I printed a letter from a woman whose husband enjoyed dressing up in her clothes. I said, "Some psychiatrists say all transvestites are either homosexual or bisexual."

That sentence unleashed a flood of angry responses from hundreds of transvestites, their wives and sweethearts. I was told in no uncertain terms (and unprintable language) that I am "off my nut," "crazy as a loon," "ill-informed," "living in the Dark Ages," and to "crawl back under that rock."

From Tucson, Ariz.: Take it back. You made an awful lot of trouble for me. I enjoy dressing up in women's clothes - have for years. My wife loves to see me put on a fashion show. I am neither bisexual nor am I homosexual. Our sex life is great. After your column appeared, my wife kept me up half the night insisting that I tell her what guy I am seeing on the side. Please print this letter so she will get off my back. I swear I am straight.

From Louisville, Ky.: Listen, you creep, I have been cross-dressing for 20 years and anyone who calls me a homo gets a fat lip. It's a great way to relax and have a little fun. No one

From Orlando, Fla.: My wife and I have been married 12 years and I have never looked at another woman - or a man. I resent your statement that just because I enjoy dressing in ladies' gowns and slippers that I am a homosexual. We play these little games about once a week in the privacy of our home. Once in a while we invite another couple in who enjoy the same thing. But we never swap partners and I have no desire to make love to a man. Please get your facts straight.

So now, Dear Readers, I will repeat my original statement: 'SOME psychiatrists say all transvestites are either homosexual or bisexual." Please note the word 'SOME." I have checked further and have additional opinions from two of Chicago's most distinguished psychiatrists. Both Dr. George Pollock, Director of the Institute of Psychoanalysis in Chicago, and Dr. Harold Visotsky, Chairman of the Department of Psychiatry at Northwestern University Medical School and Northwestern Memorial Hospital, said as follows: Approximately 20 per cent of the crossdressers are either homosexual or bisexual, but the majority are heterosexual and have no interest in other males. They get their jollies dressing up and that's as far as they go. When I asked Dr. Pollock if such behavior was "normal" (a word most psychiatrists deplore) he replied. "Not if the cross-dressing produces an orgasm.'

Dr. Lamb Exercise may affect the back

DEAR DR. LAMB - I tried the exexercise of raising my feet up, out, back together and down. I did this 35 times to tighten my belly.

After doing the exercises on two occasions, about two weeks apart, I question what I am doing wrong. After each time my legs felt heavy times a week. Does lifting the feet cause the blood to flow in an unnatural way and therefore cause the problem? When I lift my legs without spreading them out and back I don't seem to have the tiredness in legs DEAR READER - It shouldn't affect the circulation to your legs but if you have any tendency to have back problems the way you are doing it may affect spinal nerves to that area What are you doing wrong? Quite a bit. First you should start at a low level - perhaps five times a day and gradually increase the amount. Then you need to be sure you are contracting your lower abdominal muscles and not simply straining your back muscles. You do that by consciously tightening your abdominal muscles as you do the exer-

I think it is better to change the way you do your leg lifts too. First bring your feet up to your buttocks, then push them up, out and back down to the floor. You will be making a circle with your feet. Since your feet will be up with a short lever arm, because of the bent knees you won't put so much sudden leverage on your back muscles as you are doing with a straight lift of your feet from the floor with your current

After you have done this for a couple of weeks and have built up your lower abdominal strength, then as you straighten your legs with the feet off the floor in the last half of the cycie you can stop and hold your heels off the floor for a short interval. Be sure you are able to hold your abdominal muscles tight during this

Individuals with weak backs should check how they plan to do such exercises with their doctors before starting a program or they may have more trouble than you have had. For very weak people you can do one leg at a time until you

gain more strength

And you should be consistent. One day of overdoing it followed by a week or more of doing nothing will not help you and can be harmful.

Since you want to "tighten up your belly" I am sending you The Health Letter number 3-7, Girth Control: Avoiding the Big Middle. # Lakers need two wins in Portland

By DON BRADLEY PB Staff Writer

INGLEWOOD - The Lakers' brilliant season, so surprisingly successful, will end shortly, in five games at the most and more likely in

If the handwriting wasn't on the wall after Friday night's home loss to Portland, it certainly is now after the Trail Blazers won Sunday's bitterly-contested battle, 99-97.

That puts the Angelenos down 0-2 in the best-of-seven series and marked the first time all season they have lost two in a row in their beloved Forum.

Another disappointing, less-thansellout crowd (15,192) saw the Lakers give it a good shot only to succumb to their own mistakes and, ultimately to the Blazers.

The Angelenos made 25 turnovers that resulted in 26 Portland points. Guard Lucius Allen missed his second straight game.

But mistakes and Allen's injury are not the reasons the Lakers have fallen to the Blazers twice in two games.

At long last the overall lack of talent has caught up with the Lakers. Going into the playoffs, we mentioned that Jerry West's team had less individual ability than any other.

During the regular season, great coaching molded a squad of mostly castoffs and rookies who just wanted to play into a team.

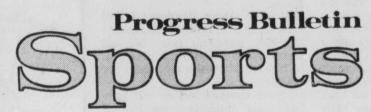

They meshed well and they played unselfishly. So they were able to win nearly two of every three games against clubs they rarely faced twice

In the playoffs with Golden State, they had Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, a super basketball player playing super basketball, and they barely managed to squeak by and win the four home games. Now they are up against the Trail Blazers, a team that not only has a great center of its own, but one with far more talent at the other posi-

So the Lakers are being beaten by a team far superior in talent at forward and guard. One whose center, Bill Walton, can counterbalance Jabbar's brilliance.

West couldn't hide his bitterness at Sunday's post-game press conference. When he signed on as head coach, he had been promised the Lakers would deal for top notch

When Julius Erving, Sidney Wicks and Curtis Rowe and Paul Silas were made available, the Lakers let them slip by Kermit Washington developed and was a big surprise. But Washington is injured and the Lakers have no forward that can handle Maurice Lucas and no guards that can contain Lionel Hollins, Johnny Davis or Herm Gilliam.

Davis and Gilliam have taken up the slack left by Dave Twardzik's injury. But the Lakers have no one who can play the backcourt consistently and score in place of Allen.

"They have so many people," sighed West. "We did everything we could, but it's no secret around the league that quick teams have hurt us, given us trouble.

Hollins, who scored 25 points and had five steals Friday night, threw in 31 points and added eight steals Sunday. He had 22 of his points in the first half, but six of the steals came in the second and nearly broke the Lakers' backs.

When Davis (2 points) was ineffective. Gilliam came off the bench to score 24 points on a dazzling array of shots, many off balance, from all over the floor. He hit 10 of 13 and scored 20 of his points in the second

We call Herm the trickster," said Portland coach Jack Ramsay. "He threw in some tricks today. That's the kind of team this is. We always have someone who can come in and make it 98-97 and Hollis sank one of two free throws with 11 seconds left to make it 99-97.

The Lakers took a time out to set up their last play. Naturally, the ball went to Jabbar who somehow got off a shot with three Portland defenders hanging on him. But the ball didn't

When everybody knows where the ball is going because nobody else can put it in, it's pretty tough to score," said West. "But Kareem is the best player in basketball. It's an unbelieveable tribute to him that we've gotten as far as we have.

Ramsay seconded that. "We had three people we didn't want to shoot, Kareem, Cazzie and Tatum (10 points)," Ramsay explained. "But Kareem got 'em in somehow . . . a marvelous player.

West was asked if he had ever played on a team that came back after losing the first two at home. "Yes, he answered, "One year we lost two to Golden State here but came back to win four. But this team doesn't have as good as players as that team had.

Then he was asked if he would make any changes. That did it. The bitterness flooded out.

'How the hell can we make any changes at this stage," he snapped. "I'll put you in there. I wish I could

"You have to give the Portland organization credit. They went out and got a new coach and spent a lot of money, got a lot of good players and got rid of the ones they couldn't

He didn't need to make any more comparisons. It had been a terribly frustrating loss, the kind that is extremely difficult to come back from.

And Jerry West, who had always been at his best under pressure, felt cheated that Laker management had reneged on a promise to do the same thing for him that Portland had done

EX-BRUINS BATTLE

Kareem Abdul-Jabbar of the Lakers and Bill Walton of the Trail Blazers, both former UCLA greats, are arm-in-arm in combat during teams' NBA semifinal playoff contest Sunday. Portland won 99-97 to take 2-0 lead.

Angels attempt to narrow gap

California Angels, who have dropped ners on first and second with two out games behind American League West-leading Minnesota, will attempt to begin closing the gap here

The Angels play a brief twogame series against the Kansas City Royals, with Wayne Simpson, 1-2, hurling for California in the opener against Jim Colborn, 4-2.

Little things hurt the Angels in Boston Sunday as they dropped a 4-3 decision to the Red Sox.

Jim Willoughby, who helped the Red Sox to the American League pennant in 1975 after being acquired from the St. Louis Cardinals' farm system, had both defense and luck in gaining the victory over the Angels after bailing out starter Bill Lee. Willoughby replaced Lee after the

Storm KOs

KANSAS CITY (AP) - The Angels tied the score 3-3 and had runin the fifth.

> Willoughby issued a walk to load the bases but was saved by shortstop Rick Burleson, who sprinted behind second base to grab Joe Rudi's grounder and flipped backhanded to Denny Doyle for an inning-ending

His teammates also provided some outstanding fielding in the final three innings to protect a 4-3 lead provided by Dwight Evans, who drilled his sixth homer into the screen in left center with two out in the sixth.

In the seventh, rookie Gil Flores led off with a triple to right center but was left stranded as Evans made a sparkling catch of a fly to shallow right center and the next two batters grounded out.

In the eighth, Joe Rudi doubled with one out. However, Burleson made a sparkling backhanded catch of a line drive and the next batter lined out Flores, making his major league debut, lined a shot high off the left field wall for his third hit with one out in the ninth, but Carl Yastrzemski grabbed the rebound and fired to second to nip the rookie trying to stretch the hit into a double.

Manager Norm Sherry of the Angels staunchly defended Flores' effort to stretch the hit into a double. 'He's so fast he just had to go.'

Sherry said. "He's the fastest man we've got, maybe the fastest in the entire organization. I'm still not sure yet whether he's out.

'Hey, it was as big play. Yaz isn't invincible out there. He had to make a perfect play and, as it turned out, Seattle Slew still learning clubhouse turn in the 11/4-mile classic which had a gross purse of $267,200. The winner's share was $214,700.

'He was undertrained for the Derby," Turner said before the colt flew back to New York where Seattle Slel will be stabled at Belmont Park. "It was planned that way. We felt he had enough in him to win it

Oft-maligned jockey Jean Cruguet, who admits he has restrained Seattle Slew in the past in order to save him, went to the whip several times during the stretch run when he pulled away from For the Moment who had held a slight lead over the 1-2 favorite most of the way until the final quarter-mile. The colt had been whipped once previously in his career

Run Dusty Run, owned by the Golden Chance Farm, finished with a rush to take second, a neck in front of Darby Dan Farm's Sanhedrin, another fast-closer who was third. A foul claim against Run Dusty Run for interference was disallowed.

While trainer Smiley Adams said he is uncertain whether Run Dusty Run will go in the Preakness, Lou Ronoinello said Sanhedrin would definitely run in the 13-16 test. It is expected too that Run Dusty Run, who has finished second in his last four starts, will go.

Blue Grass Stakes winner For the Moment, who faded to eighth, and Papelote, a 42-1 shot who ran a surprising sixth, are the only other Derby horses expected to run in the Preakness. Papelote, who was purchased by Marvin Warner on Derby eve, got a new trainer in Chuck Tufariello on Sunday. It's likely that apprentice Steve Cauthen, who didn't ride in the Derby, will have the mount on Papelote since Cauthen lives in Tufariello's house.

Other Preakness challengers are expected to include Royal Ski, Cormorant, J.O. Tobin and Important

Rain halts Stags' bid

The weekend rainstorm has forced the cancelation of Monday's scheduled NAIA District III "miniplayoffs" and Claremont-Mudd's bid to gain a berth in this weekend's District III finals at La Verne College.

The Stags (18-20 on the year) were to meet Southern California College in their morning opener, while Azusa Pacific was to host Westmont.

However, the wet weather made the fields at both Citrus and APC unplayable. The four teams were to try to go again Tuesday.

The "mini-playoff" winner will join La Verne, USIU and Cal State Dominguez Hills in the District III finals, with all games in that competition set for La Verne College.

Royal Ski, owned by Boston Bruins hockey goalie Gerry Cheevers, had an impressive 2-year-old campaign before developing a cough this winter. In his only start this year, April 16, he ran fourth in the Hirsch Jacobs Stakes.

Camorant is back in training after missing the Derby because of a virus. He won the Iroquois Handicap, the Bay Shore and Gotham in three races this year.

J.O. Tobin skipped the Derby because of a cough but has won three of four outings this year, including the Coronado Handicap at Hollywood Park. He won stakes in England as a running triumph Saturday in the Woodlawn Stakes at Pimlico.

2-vearold. Important Reason posted a front-

Get The Axe, who finished fourth in the Derby, is headed for the Jersey Derby while Steve's Friend, fifth in the Derbywill be recovering from a twisted ankle and possibly may go in the third leg, the Belmont Stakes June 11. One problem Seattle Slew's trainer will be working on in the weeks prior to the Preakness is the colt's slow breaks from the post. "He breaks out all right, but then he doesn't run right away," said Turner. "I don't know why, but I guess I'll have to think of something.

Seattle Slew's time for the Derby distance was a relatively slow 2:021almost three seconds off Secretariat's 1973 Derby record. The last quartermile was a slow 261/2, a factor which may bring in some more Preakness contenders.

The Derby winner paid $3, $2.80 and $2.80 to backers in the throng of 124,036. They bet a total of $1,541,301 on Seattle Slew. The total wagering of $3,655,255 established a Derby record.

Other Derby placings were Giboulee seventh, followed by Affiliate, Flag Officer, Bob's Dusty, Sir Sir, Nostalgia, Western Wind and Best Person.

top-seeded

Claremont High's Mark Alba drew the number one seed for the San Antonio League Individual Tennis Tournament which will be held Tuesday and Wednesday at both the Claremont Tennis Club and Claremont

Alba's top seeding is a bit unusual, considering that two past SAL Individual champions will also be competing this year - Upland's Craig Parker and Wally Vellie. Parker gained the title last year, while

The top seeded doubles team is Upland's Brad Todd and Rick Vargus, with the second seed going to Dave Stahl and Dave Low of Ganesha.

Six local BB teams gain playoff invites The valley will have six prep teams competing in the CIF baseball playoffs come Friday.

Locals set for competition in the opening round of the playoffs are San Antonio League entries Montclair and Pomona in the 3A bracket, Hacienda League teams Ontario, Bonita and Alta Loma in the 2A division and Arrowhead League representative Webb in the 1A group-

Of those six, three drew home contests. Montclair, the titlist in the SAL, will open at home Friday vs. Garden Grove. Ontario, the champion in the Hacienda, will be at home vs. Mission Viejo. Webb, cochamp in the Arrowhead loop, will also open at home, vs.

Riverside Christian. SAL runnerup Pomona will open at La Serna High in Whittier. H.L. runnersup Bonita and Alta Loma will have longer trips to make come Friday. Bonita will be at Perris while Alta Loma will be at Dana Hills. SAL third-place teams Garey and Damien did not receive CIF bids.

Exact times and sites of all opening CIF opening round games should be determined by mid-week.

76ers dread talk about sweep

PHILADELPHIA (AP) -Philadelphia 76ers Coach Gene Shue almost choked on a soft drink when he heard that Doug Collins was still shooting in the dressing room-with his mouth, not the ball

"Right now our thoughts are on a sweep," said Collins, who shoots quick and talks in machine-gun style.

Shue gulped at what coaches consider heresy-feeding the opposition propaganda. He could just see the Houston Rockets reacting to Collins' worried only about the third game. You all know the respect I have for Houston. When they get hot, I haven't seen any team like them. Three times Sunday the Rockets crawled back from deficits to look times Philadelphia left them running 97 and took a 2-0 lead in their best-oftion semifinal series.

Collins, who scored 20 points, labeled the 76ers a team of spurts, both good and bad. On the good side they scored 14 straight points in the first period and went on to build a 57-45 halftime lead. When the Rockets tied it 73-73 in the third, the Sixers ran off seven in a row for some breathing room. And when the Rockets battled back to within three, Shue's troops outscored them 14-6 early in the fourth quarter to wrap it

But then there are the bad spurts," Collins lamented. "We go through streaks where we just don't do the things we're supposed to do. That's what happened in the third

The Rockets trailed by 12 starting the third, and with Rudy Tomjanovich scoring 14 and Calvin Murphy-the game's high scorer with 32 points-12 in the period, scrapped back to tie at 71-71. They trailed by just three at the thirdquarter mark, 83-80. But the Sixers spurted again and it was all over.

Today I thought we played another strong defensive game," said Shue. "Except for that stretch in the third quarter when they showed what a great outside shooting team they are.

Houston Coach Tom Nissalke couldn't find anything to be happy about, even the thought of going home for the next two games.

"I can't see much difference at home," said Nissalke, whose team has lost five of six to Philadelphia this season, including one in

"I guess if we had either George McGinnis or Dr. J (Julius Erving), there would be no question of who would win," Nissalke said. "You know, Philadelphia hasn't seen the true Dr. J," Nissalke said. 'He's playing at 75 per cent of his capability. I know. I watched him four years in the ABA.

McGinnis scored 21 points, 18 in the first half. Erving collected 18, including 10 in the final period, and handed out 10 assists. Lloyd Free contributed 16 and Darryl Dawkins

Erving reacted to Nissalke's

'Seventy-five percent of my efficiency?" he asked. "I thought I was always giving 100 per cent out there. That's what I'm trying to do. I feel that I play the same way every

Long Beach signs White

LONG BEACH - Twotime All-CIF forward John White of Millikan High in Long Beach has become the first basketball recruit to sign a national letter of intent with Long Beach

White, 6-6, 190-pounder who averaged over 16 points per-game at Millikan as a senior and shot 54 per cent from the floor, led the Rams to the championship of the tough Moore League this past season and into the CIF 4A semifinals.

Ironically, the Braves, now 8-18, had an 8-5 record when they started last year's long skid, just as they did this year.

Prayers help Pat Kelly

Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn won't like this, but there seems to be a higher authority at work in the American League these days.

A week ago, after batting .087 for the month of April, Pat Kelly said a little prayer. Since then, he's had 10 hits in 20 swings, five of them home runs including a grand slam Sunday that carried the Baltimore Orioles to a 6-4 victory over the Seattle Mariners.

Dan Thomas sat out Milwaukee losses Friday night and Saturday, observing the sabbath as usual according to the rules of his faith, the Worldwide Church of God. He returned to action Sunday and smacked a two-run homer, helping the Brewers defeat Detroit 7-4. Praise the Lord and pass

"I don't know how long it's going to last but as long as it does, I'll enjoy it. The big guys like Mantle, Aaron, and Mays did this all their lives. What a thrill it must have been for them.' Thomas, whose playing appearances are arranged around the requirements of his religion, believes the schedule has helped his production.

Guthrie serious at Indy

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) -Janet Guthrie still draws crowds of curious spectators at her Gasoline Alley garage, but this year she is seen not merely as the first woman at the In-Motor dianapolis Speedway but also as a serious contender for a starting Indy 500 berth.

The 39-year-old physicist was an admitted novelty when she donned her blueand-white outfit and dared brave the all-male bastion of championship racing last year. There were a lot of stares, some behind-theback snickering and even a little open resentment.

Not any more. The tall, thin brunette didn't make a qualification attempt a year ago because her Vollstedt racer just wasn't fast enough. But she tested A.J. Foyt's backup car and within a halfhour was up to a respectable 181 miles per hour. This year, determined to make her a competitive factor at Indy, car owner Rolla Vollstedt purchased the former Lindsey Hopkins Lightning that Roger McCluskey drove at 198 m.p.h. in tire tests last

And going into today's third day of practice for the May 29 race, Miss Guthrie was the thirdfastest among 22 drivers.

She set the pace on Saturday with a clocking of 185.6 m.p.h., then topped that Sunday at 188.442 and said she probably could go

'We're running the oldstyle engine, so I'd say the car has several more miles an hour in it," she said.

Vollstedt plans to put a new shallow-valve Offenhauser engine in Miss Guthrie's car for qualifications next Saturday, and her teammate, veteran Dick Simon, figures that will be good for another 100 horsepower.

'We wanted her to get in some practice, so we used the old one," Simon said. "We'll put in the good one when it counts to go fast."

Through Sun y, the only drivers to go faster than Miss Guthrie were a pair of former winners. Gordon Johncock, the 1973 winner and the defending U.S. Auto Club national driving champion, hit 192.596 and Al Unser, the 1970 and '71 winner, was clocked at 189.235. Another rookie, Danny Ongais, qualled Miss Guthrie's speed of 188.442.

In all, 11 drivers topped 180 m.p.h. on Sunday as practice speeds were considerably higher than a year ago.

'The biggest change, I think, is in the tires," said Johncock, who set an unofficial track record of 200.4 m.p.h. during tire tests this spring. "But the weather was ideal at the time, about 40 degrees, so I really don't know if anyone will go over 200 this month.'

Johncock's teammate, Wally Dallenbach, the current USAC points leader, decided to return to the Wildcat he drove to fourth place in last year's race. He said there wasn't enough time to sort out the proper combination of aerodynamics and chassis suspension on a brand new racer brought to Indh by builder George Bignotti.

Protests from teachers may have stalled approval of a year-round school program for two continuation high schools in the Chaffey school district.

School trustees failed this week, on a 2-1 vote, to approve the year-round (YRS) plan proposed by administrators for Valley View High School in Ontario and Mountain High in Upland.

A majority of three board members was necessary for approval, and only Martha Chapman and Charles Uhalley voted for the plan. Ray Sarrio opposed it, and trustees Adrian Chalfant and Jack Carnine were absent.

Sarrio indicated, after hearing the teacher protest, that employes should have been consulted on the proposal. He noted that administrators had been planning it for about a Sherry Rutledge, president of Associated Chaffey Teachers (ACT), said the YRS plan affects teachers' working conditions and should be negotiable under the new collective bargaining law.

'You're monkeying around with summer school," Miss Rutledge told the board. She later noted that teachers would receive less pay on a YRS schedule, particularly in Miss Rutledge also said the YRS plan may have implications for the entire school district. "It may be a foot in the door for

Assistant Supt. Robert Erickson, who presented the proposal, noted the Valley View-Mountain plan could be a "pilot program" for the district, although that is not the main reason

The program would start in time for summer school, and it would allow the district to accomodate more students at Valley View and Mountain schools who sometimes get displaced to another campus, officials said. It would relieve waiting lists at the two schools, they added, and would "maximize" the use of facilities.

Many continuation high students have academic problems in the regular high school program, and if they are displaced for summer school back to a "regular" campus. "we are placing them back into a failing situation," said officials.

Robert Spencer, personnel director, said the program would be an "advantage" for teachers, and claimed they would "make more money" in summer

Supt. Mike Dirksen stated the intent of the program is "not to impinge

NOTICE

You may have the right to cure the default described herein and reinstate the mortgage or deed of trust. Sections 2924c of the Civil Code permits certain defaults to be cured upon the payment of the amount required by that Section without requiring payment of that portion of principal and interest which would not be due had no default occurred. Where reinstatement is possible, if the default is not cured within three months following recording of this Notice, the right of reinstatement will terminate and the property may be sold. To determine if reinstatement is possible and the amount, if any, necessary to cure the default, contact the beneficiary or mortgagee or their successors in interest, whose name and address as of the date of this Notice is CINNAMON CREEK HOMEOWNERS ASSOCIATION, P.
